New Truck Over-Load Hogs Explained By Sen. Bill Sarpallus

(CONT. FROM PAGE 1A)

Sen. Bill Sarpallus, D-Texas, has introduced H.R. 1114. As these opinions usually take months to complete and generally answer wholly undecided questions, we felt time could be saved by researching and answering your inquiries ourselves. Obviously our opinions do not carry the same weight as the Texas Attorney General's but we feel that our answers are correct.

Q: What is a processing point?

A: The responsibility for enforcing H.R. 1114 rests with the Department of Public Safety. According to an internal memo for the DPS, "processing" will be interpreted to mean the point where the commodities leave the processor's control.

Q: Is the grain elevator a processor or a grain elevator exempt?

A: It is the interpretation of the DPS that a grain elevator is a processor within the law, and thus not exempt from the penalty provisions of H.R. 1114.

Q: If a grain elevator is a processor, who is liable for overloading trucks? Management, elevator employees, buyer who requested, overloads, or just the truck driver or owner of the truck?

A: Section 1 (b) of H.R. 1114 says anyone who loads, or causes to be loaded, a truck with the intent to violate weight limitations is liable under this law. This could conceivably be any of the persons you listed.

Q: What about a turnrow buyer who buys at harvest time and goes directly to the feedlot? Is he exempt from the law?

A: No. Again, under the controlling DPS definition of a processing point, when the control of a commodity leaves the producer, so does the overload exemption. Therefore, a turnrow buyer is not exempt from this law.

Q: Do these fines and jail sentences apply to trucks that are over 18% overloaded?

A: No. If a truck is overloaded by 18% or more, the court will presume that there was an intent to overload. As intent to violate the limit is necessary for a conviction, the person charged with overloading of 18% or more will have to prove that he did it without intent. Conversely, if the person is charged with overloading an amount less than 18%, the burden of proof as to intent falls to the prosecution.

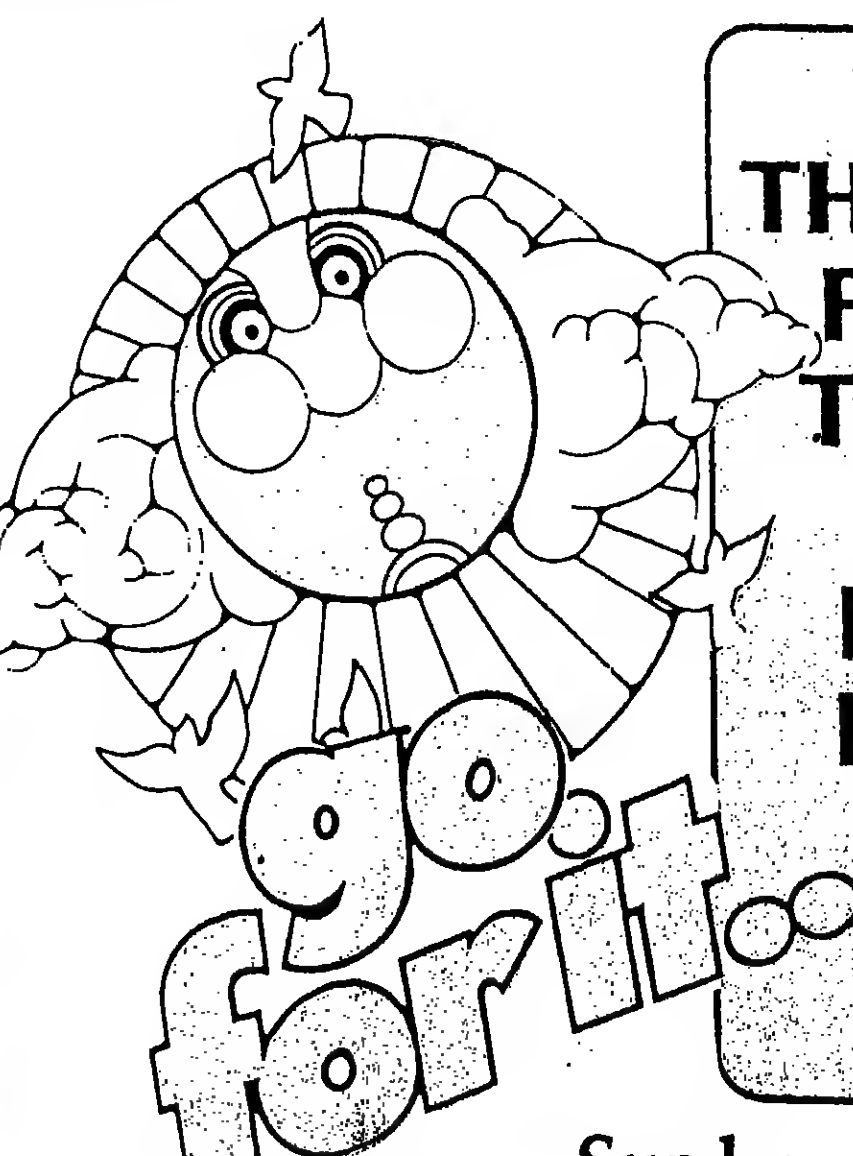

Q: What does apply if a truck is only 18% overloaded? Will someone have to go to jail?

A: Even though the burden of proof falls on the amount overloaded, the fine and penalties do not. Therefore, the fine and jail terms are the same if convicted for being 8% overloaded as they are for being 18% overloaded. Jail terms are only a possibility for 2nd and 3rd convictions in the same year.

Q: What type of charge is the jail sentence, a felony?

A: Felony are charges that carry a possibility of a greater than one year sentence. Third and subsequent convictions within one year do not carry the charge of a jail term. Therefore this statute does not call for felony charges.

It is hoped that these answers are satisfactory. If you would like further explanation of any of these areas please try to contact us again.

Safety Corner

Prevent Farm Falls

More than 20 percent of reported work injuries are the results of falls. Here are some tips on how to stay on your feet.

- Wear comfortable, well fitted, slip resistant work shoes or boots. Metal toe caps in the shoes or boots provide extra protection.
- Keep walks, aisles and working surfaces cleared of ice, snow, mud, manure, grease, spilled grain and other things that can cause falls.
- Avoid clutter in work areas, passageways and steps. Put tools and implements away when you are through with them.
- Keep extra riders off farm equipment.

An estimated 100 million meteoroids enter the Earth's atmosphere each day and all but about 500 a year are burned up in the atmosphere.

Wingert, Franck
Head Polled Hereford
Board of Directors

Polled Hereford breeders George Wingert, Ottawa, Kan., and Dick Franck, owner of Wooden Shoe Farms, Okla., Wash., have been elected chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the American Polled Hereford Association's board of directors.

They were elected during the 61st National Polled Hereford Convention-Show-Sale held at the North American International Livestock Exposition, Nov. 11-12, in Louisville, Ky. New directors assuming four-year terms on the board are James Bennett, Red River, Va., Phil Ellis, Christiansburg, Ill., and Dick Saldaer, Clements, Calif.

Wingert, owner of Wingert Stock Farm, began breeding Polled Herefords in the mid-1970s and has developed the operation into better than 2,000 acres running around 300 registered Polled Hereford cows. Wingert and his wife, Jane, have four children, all of whom have been active in the cattle business.

Franck and his partner Jack Powell have been in the Polled Hereford business since 1969 when they bought a 50-acre farm on San Juan Island, off the Washington coast, where Franck was born. The farm included 200 Polled Hereford cows which became the basis of the Wooden Shoe Farms cow herd. He and Powell have been in business together for more than 30 years, beginning with their partnership in Sound Co. of Seattle.

A suburbanite put on a last-minute burst of speed to catch his train—but missed it. A bystander remarked, "If you just ran a little faster you would have made it." The suburbanite replied, "It wasn't a case of running faster, but of starting sooner."

Panhandle State Club Stud Auction Set

The Panhandle State University Rodeo Club will hold its annual Stud Auction on Dec. 8 in Guymon. Sixty of 46 studs will be offered, with proceeds going to the Rodeo Club scholarship fund and the travel expense fund. Travel expenses are becoming an increasing problem for students in college rodeos as prices of gasoline, food, and lodging continue to rise. The travel expense fund helps offset these expenses for the 50 cowboys and cowgirls active in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association at PSU.

The Stud Service Auction will be held at the Guymon American Legion Hall starting at 8 p.m., Dec. 8. Anyone wanting information can contact the club advisor, Dr. Lynn Gardner, at Box 220, Goodwell, or phone 405/349-2611, extension 254. A booklet of information about horses being offered will be available prior to the auction.

Least Costly Float Valve Is Completely Reliable

Despite the acid rains in some parts of the country, some farmers must still acidify their soil. The Agricultural Division of International Environmental, Inc. (Salt Lake City, UT 84116) makes a sulfur dioxide generator which is used for this very purpose.

The generator burns sulfur to make sulfur dioxide. A portion of the farmer's irrigation stream is diverted through the generator and the sulfur dioxide is passed through the water to form sulfuric acid (H₂SO₄). The acidified water is then pumped back into the farmer's irrigation stream.

"The detailed chemistry," according to William E. Sells, Jr., International Environmental's Chief Engineer, "is really much more complex. Strength of the sulfuric acid is between 400 and 6000 ppm as sulfate (SO₄). pH is approximately 2.0."

According to Sells, they found it necessary for this application to maintain the flow of their generator with an outlet flow. To achieve this, they decided to use a float-actuated valve to regulate the discharge of their pressurizing pump. Since the pump liquid is acidified to a pH of approximately 2.0, stainless steel construction was mandatory.

Problem solved? Not yet. Choosing the right liquid level control device was just the start. They had to find a good float-actuated valve and here they ran into some problems. The first one they looked at, although it worked quite well, was prohibitively expensive and another less expensive valve was needed for the application, but they had many operating problems with it the first year that they had to discontinue its use.

At this point, according to Sells, they learned of a float valve manufactured by Gaden Machine Company (Mt. Ephraim, NJ 08059). Cost was lowest of all. Sells, they set up a reliability test at their Salt Lake testing facility. Sulfuric acid was run through the valve wide open for 1,000 hours. During the final 250 hours of testing, the float valve's mechanical actuating linkage was cycled 15,000 times. Based on malfunctioning during testing, they decided to use the Gaden float valve's sulfur dioxide generator. Reports coming in from a large number of field applications confirm this decision. The least costly float valve is, surprisingly enough, completely reliable.

High price, it seems, does not always guarantee superior performance. Sometimes less is more.

Simmental National Sale Set For 1984

Bozeman, Mt.-For the first time since 1976, the American Simmental Association will again designate and conduct a National Sale. The event is scheduled for January 19, 1984 and will be held in conjunction with National Western activities in Denver, Colorado. Trasson Livestock Services, Inc. has been selected as the sale management firm.

"The Board of Trustees has decided to reinstitute The National Sale, and has chosen the Denver National Western as the site," said Earl B. Peterson, Executive Vice President. "The

Upcoming ASA Meetings Slated For Honolulu, Springfield, And Denver

The American Simmental Association, in keeping with a long-standing tradition of rotating meeting sites, has announced meeting locations for the next year and a half.

The 1984 Annual meeting and convention will be held in Hawaii, the first time that an official ASA meeting has been held off the U.S. mainland. The Convention will convene January 31, and will run through February 2, with the Hilton Hawaiian Village in Honolulu serving as the headquarters hotel.

"A number of options are available, with regard to travel and hotel accommodations," said ASA Executive Vice President Earl B. Peterson. "We have contracted with Hilton Tours, Inc. to handle all travel arrangements, and contact should be established with that firm at the member's earliest convenience." Complete Convention information may be obtained by contacting the ASA office, Peterson explained.

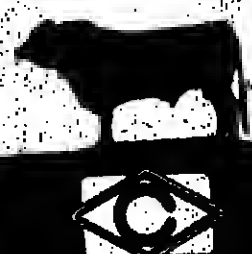

Denon and locations for two other important meetings were recently established by decision of the ASA Trustees. The 1984 Summer Conference and Summer Classic will be held concurrently at the same time and at the same site. The combined event will be held July 8-12 in Springfield, Missouri. The two events had previously been kept separate. A decision on any future joint meetings will be made after the results of the Missouri event are known. The Trustees also voted to conduct the 1985 Annual Convention in Denver.

The Summer Conference has been an annual gathering of working committees since 1973, while the Summer Classic is a youth-oriented educational program, which has existed since 1980. The 1984 schedule will be carefully meshed, so that adults and youths may share a number of programs, and still accomplish their respective objectives.

"We're convening in Denver in 1985 largely because of our return to the concept of a National Simmental Sale," Peterson explained.

Reduce maintenance and interest costs.

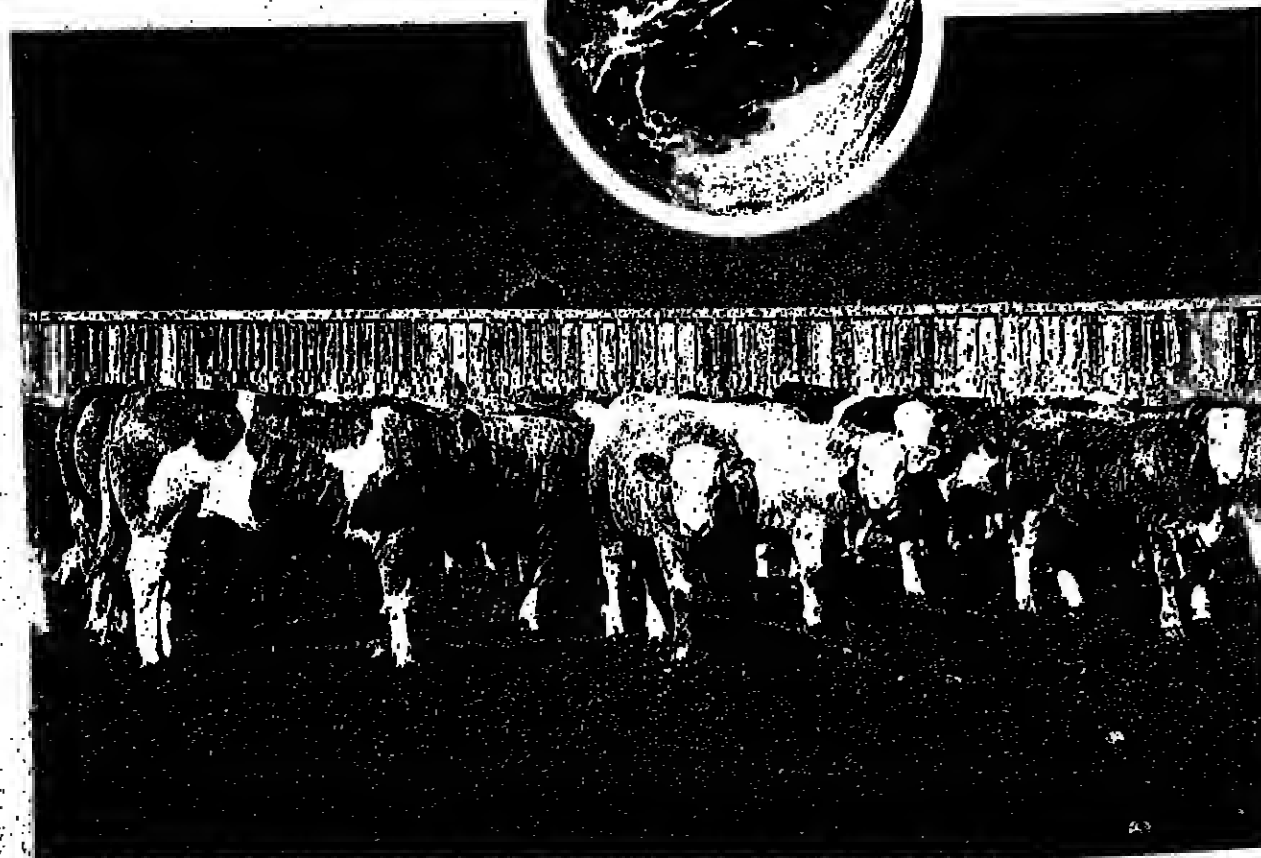

Simmental feeders give you an edge: They grow faster, hit market sooner, and produce a higher ratio of red meat. This means better feed conversion and reduced interest cost.

Whether you feed heifers or steers, Simmental finish at desired weights, and 70% or more are YG 2s. That's what consumers want.

All of the little Kanadys were schooled in this art and they did the most complete job of turalia supposedly hard ased news persons into publicity flacks for their own advantage. They were beautiful people, fun to be around when they chose to be and they were all nearer the ages of the aows people and invited 'em to places where usually no ordinary reporter or writer bad trod.

Charisma abandoned sad minor fumbles were quickly forgot. Never before, nor since, has the news media been handled with greater skill.

However, to our way of thinkin' the greatest masterpiece was the ability to charm those hard case news persons to smilin' and walkin' away from the news and keepin' the publicity friendly. Noone has topped this act yet and probably never will.

Ever thine, The Edittar.

How Will You Survive In Cattle Business? Answers!

Denver — How is today's beleaguered cattleman going to survive and prosper in the 1980's?

Program features that will provide answers to that question will be a key part of the National Cattleman's Assn. 1984 convention, NCA officials said today.

The annual convention and trade show will be held Jan. 22-25 in New

Daryl Gaumer To Disperse Brangus December 3 In Mineola

Daryl Gaumer will hold a complete dispersal of Brangus cattle on Saturday, December 3 in Mineola, Texas. Sale time is set for 10 a.m. and will be held at the Wood County Livestock Commission Co.

Selling will be 111 head of registered Brangus cattle.

Orleans, LA. Events will take place at the Rivergate Convention Center and the Hilltop and Marriott hotels. The convention theme will be "The Winds of Change."

"After three years of poor economic results and then a year of P.K. drought and threatened dairy cow liquidation, things indeed look tough," said NCA President W.J. (Dub) Waldrup.

However, 1984 just may be the start of something better for the cattle industry.

"To survive today's difficult times and then to be ready for new opportunities, you should plan now to be on hand for all three days of our 1984 convention. Not only will you get a clear picture of the over-all industry outlook; you will go home with new information on management approaches and tools that can be applied in your individual operation."

The educational programs will be in addition to the usual general convention sessions.

President Ronald Reagan has been invited to speak at the opening general session on Tuesday, Jan. 24. NCA President Waldrup also will address the cattleman and woman on that day. The general membership meeting will take place on Wednesday, Jan. 25, with action on timely public issues confronting cattlemen.

Educational program highlights include:

Monday, Jan. 23 — There will be educational and name sessions designed to help all cattlemen, not just committee members. Working cattlemen as well as guest experts will speak.

A special marketing program will cover the changing structure of the pecking industry and implications for cattlemen; bargaining with the cattle buyer; and clear title for agricultural commodities.

A program on identifying beef value differences will deal with new developments in consumer acceptance of beef, beef processing and retailing trends, lean beef programs, and pricing paid for superior quality and yield.

Selling the positive values of beef will be the topic of a session on industry promotion and public relations programs designed to increase demand for beef.

Other special sessions will cover estate taxes, beef exports, animal welfare, animal diseases, grazing fees, land use and safe use of chemicals.

Monday afternoon programs on "how to survive and prosper in the cattle business" will be sponsored by the NCA advisory council.

Purebred Council — A panel of purebred breeders will tell how they successfully target markets for registered bulls in the commercial cow-calf business.

Cow-Calf/Stocking Council — Tom Brown, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, will lead a discussion of business management and marketing methods used by successful operators.

Feeder Council — Opportunities for use of agricultural options, expected to be in operation on commodity exchanges in coming months, will be discussed by a panel of market experts and cattlemen.

Tuesday, Jan. 24 — Trade show exhibitors will present a series of seminars on timely cattle production and marketing subjects. There also will be a special seminar on credit availability and the interest rate outlook. All of this will be in addition to the opening general session talks and a special awards luncheon for all attendees.

Wednesday, Jan. 25 — Cattle-Fax annual outlook seminar will conclude the convention program on Wednesday afternoon. NCA, Cattle-Fax and guest speakers will present the outlook for the economy and beef demand; cattle market trends and outlook; prospects for grain supplies and prices; and the long range weather picture.

Among other convention highlights will be the three-day trade show at the convention center and the annual meetings of the American National Cow/Bull and the Louisiana Cattlemen's Assn.

Convention details and registration forms have been and will be sent to NCA members. Others who are interested should contact the NCA Special Services Dept., P.O. Box 8496, Englewood, CO 80155 (800-884-0800).

Consumer Meat Use Steady

Consumer use of red and processed meats, such as luncheon meats, has steadied after recent declines compared to the use of poultry and fish. A recent report by the American Meat Institute and the National Livestock and Meat Board shows that while consumers are still concerned with health considerations—obesity, caloric intake, fat and cholesterol—when buying food, they place emphasis on price than previously thought. Major concerns noted are quality and convenience, notes a meat specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The report spells good news for livestock producers and others in the meat industry.

NCA Opens Membership Drive For 4,500

Denver — The National Cattlemen's Assn. recently initiated a drive to enlist 4,500 new NCA members by March 31, 1984.

Chuck Fluharty, chairman of the NCA membership and revenue committee, said that the new members are needed in order to maintain and build the "strength through unity" that the industry requires if it is to be an effective force in government and public affairs.

NCA affiliates and members will take part in the special membership drive. Fluharty said, and cattlemen and producers will receive special recognition and also valuable awards.

Fluharty noted that the industry continues to face many challenges and that strong associations at both the state and national levels are necessary. He mentioned such things as the effects of general farm policy on cattlemen; government laws and regulations which directly impact on cattle operations; the need to improve public understanding and acceptance of the industry and its products; and marketing problems that must be overcome through joint industry action.

"Cattlemen must stand together in unity in order to support and promote their industry," Fluharty said. "At present, fewer than 40,000 cattlemen directly support NCA activities, although many other cattlemen benefit from the association's accomplishments on the industry's behalf. More members of our industry should share in the cost of programs which can help everyone protect his business and improve his livelihood. With more members, NCA and its affiliates obviously can do even more."

Fluharty said that anyone interested in NCA or in helping enlist new members should contact the NCA Membership Department, P.O. Box 3469, Englewood, CO 80155.

PRORICH FEEDS

FROM THE HEART OF THE ROCKIES...

A Testimonial...

"This past winter I used Prorich supplemental feed on my cow herd. I was very pleased with the results. As the cattle came through the winter in better condition than ever before. The cattle shied off immediately and cycled earlier. Having used different feeds in the past I can appreciate the value of the Prorich formula."

SWPA members enjoy Fun Day at Canton, Texas, November 5. Southwest Pinzgauer Hold Fun Day

The SWPA held a Fun Day at Canton, Texas on Saturday, November 5. The activities consisted of a business meeting, covered dish luncheon and riding with association members and guests.

The business meeting was presided over by association president, Ms. Woodie Talbot. Reports were made on the fair activities in Tyler and on participation of SWPA members in local cattle shows. In a local show in Southeastern Oklahoma, Corey Cooper of Mead, Ok., placed a Pinzgauer steer in fourth place in a class of eleven. Two of Doyle Dove's heifers shown by Jimmy Capps, placed first at the Van Zandt County Fair in Canton.

Plans were discussed for the SWPA exhibit and show at the East Texas Fair for 1984. A committee to be chaired by Marie Hooper, was appointed to finalize plans for that event.

W. J. Sparks III, President of American Pinzgauer Association, reported to the group on the activities and plans of that organization. The (CONT. ON PAGE 10B)

National Shorthorn Meeting Scheduled For Nat'l. Western

Sale held at the National Western Livestock Show and Rodeo, Denver, Co.

According to Ric Hoyt, president of the American Shorthorn Association from Burns, Or., delegates representing 26 voting districts from across the United States and Canada will converge at the Denver winter show to take action on motions that will affect the national beef cattle breed organization for years to come. Two resolutions on the floor that the delegates will discuss concern the Shorthorn Performance Records program. The first one states that Shorthorn owners consigning cattle to the following American Shorthorn Association sponsored events are required to have their total herd enrolled in the Shorthorn Performance Records program and provide individual performance records on each animal before their cattle will be accepted for the following events:

1. National Sale and/or Denver Seedstock Special.
2. National Polled Shorthorn Congress Sale.
3. National Range Bull Evaluation Center Sale.
4. North American Heifer Calf Futurity Show & Sale.

The second motion says that in order to be eligible for premiums at an American Shorthorn Association sponsored Open Show (American Shorthorn Association portion of the premium), the owner's herd must be enrolled in the Shorthorn Performance Records (SPR) program and each animal must have individual SPR records in order to receive American Shorthorn Association financial support. This resolution would become effective July 1, 1984.

Also planned for Thursday evening, January 12, 1984, is a special meeting for all Shorthorn producers and interested cattlemen, billed as the State Officers' and Breeders' Symposium. The sessions will discuss the role of the state president, the role of the state secretary, the Shorthorn Performance Records program, and merchandising Shorthorn cattle.

Dr. Kunsley stated that headquarters for the American Shorthorn Association in Denver, Co., will be the Clarion Hotel Denver Airport, formerly known as the Denver Stouffer's Inn. The deadline for placing reservations is December 18, 1983. Room reservations may be made by contacting the American Shorthorn Association, 8888 Haskell Street, Omaha, Ne., 68134, 402-389-7200.

Shorthorn Association Adds Members

Shorthorn breeders recently joining the Texas Shorthorn Association included Roy Early, Bangs, Texas; Bill Sharon and Wynn Rosser, Kilgore, TX; and Circle M Farms, c/o Doyle Mabe, Colleyville, Texas, and Mac and Delo, da Rains, Rotan, Texas.

Panhandle Feedlot Movement 57,900

Amarillo, Nov. 18 (F-S) - Texas Panhandle and Western Oklahoma Feedlot: Slaughter steers and heifers 1.00 higher. Feedlots are very current although moderate numbers are reaching market weight each week. This week's reported volume is the smallest for any week in almost three months. The average live weight of most cattle slaughtered in area packing plants last week was 1085 lb. compared to 1080 lb. the previous week and 1085 lb. on the corresponding week last year. Steers 88,100; good and mostly choice 2-3 70-85% choice, 1050-1200 lb. 80.00-81.50, closing sales 81.00-81.50. Mixed good and choice 2-3 1000-1200 lb. 78.50-80.50, late sales 80.50-80.80. His progeny have won 41 Championships throughout the Country and hold the weaning rate records on our Ranch." Stocker Calf Trade Show Stated Jan. 5

College Station - Falls County, the self-proclaimed stocker calf capital of Texas, is hosting the first ever Texas Stocker Calf Trade Show next January. The event will be Jan. 5 at the National Guard Armory just east of Austin on Farm Road 147. Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. and is free until 3 p.m. after which time a $4 fee will be charged. Highlighting the trade show will be 18 mal-semiars sponsored by allied animal and agricultural industries, plus out Ronnie Laps, Falls County Extension agent. In addition, two featured speakers will address the stocker calf industry at 1 p.m. program. They are Dr. Rod A. Smith, vice president for research and development and quality assurance with Monfort of Colorado, Inc., and Dr. Gary C. Smith, head of the Department of Animal Science of Texas A&M University. "We are extremely proud to host this Stocker Calf Trade Show because of the tremendous stocker calf industry we have in Falls County," says Laps. "This show will have about 70,000 head of stocker calves in our county on oak, wheat and ryegrass pasture and another 30,000 head in surrounding counties. The stocker calf industry is growing rapidly in our area," notes Laps, "but is generally forgotten about the rest of the time it's weaned until it's sold into the feedlot. However, we're making a special effort to put 200 to 300 days of a calf. This segment of the industry hasn't received much attention, so we're trying to fill that void with our trade show." The Texas Stocker Calf Trade Show is being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, the Falls County Beef and Forage Council, and allied animal agriculture industries.

Outlook For Cattlemen Improves

times for U.S. beef cattle producers.

Sparking at the Oregon Cattleman's Assn. convention, Riley forecast these economic trends for 1984-85: (1) A continuation of the recovery that began in late 1982; (2) continuation of a modest inflation rate; (3) a modest decline in both nominal and real adjusted for inflation interest rates; (4) a continued increase in numbers of persons employed and a decrease in unemployment rates.

Those forecasts, Riley cautioned, are based on assumptions that Congress and the administration will reduce government spending and deficits; that the world economy will recover; and that international trade will increase again.

Assuming the improvement in basic conditions, the NCA economist continued, cattleman's costs should increase more slowly than during the past four years, and demand for beef should be strengthened.

"The economic setting of real economic growth and stable prices and interest rates is very positive for cattleman," Riley said. "The major uncertainty (other than weather) is government programs. Over the last few years, many of these programs have been negative, and the new dairy program is yet to be played out."

It is difficult to be optimistic about inventory changes in government policies, Riley said. But, he added, greater involvement of NCA and the beef industry in formulating farm policies should help the situation.

He also noted that individual cattleman have opportunities to improve the efficiency and profitability of their operations — by being better planners and managers. It may not be possible to profitably increase per capita beef supplies, but it should be possible for the better cattle operators in particular to realize more consistent profits at current levels of production.

"After three years of poor economic results and a year of PFI and dairy legislation, prospective economic stability can do wonders for the business/cattleman," Riley said. "The business/cattleman is the one who keeps good records, plans for the future and also recognizes that what happens outside the farm or ranch gate — including marketing, financing and government policies — is an increasingly important factor in the individual's as well as the over-all industry's success."

Jordan Hosts Beefmaster Field Day

Oary and Linda Jordan of Diamond Laxy J Beefmasters, Lexington, Texas, hosted a crowd of nearly 100 people at a Beefmaster field day on their ranch. Geared toward commercial cattlemen, the field day program included informative presentations on the advantages of Beefmasters.

Charlie Bradbury, director of field services for Beefmaster Breeders Universal, explained the BBU Upgrading Program. With Diamond Laxy J cattle as examples, he demonstrated the procedures for inspecting base cows, first and second-crop females in the program. Beefmaster breeder Don Lawrence, Nacogdoches, Texas, spoke on the increased profitability of his cattle since switching to Beefmasters. Market reports showing the heavy weaning weights and feedlot demand for Beefmaster-sired calves were also presented to the field day participants. Diamond Laxy J herd sires were on display, as well as a top group of young Beefmaster bulls.

Hides & Offal

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. Nov. 21 (USA) — The estimated value of Hides and Offal from the average 1,000 pound slaughter steer for Monday November 21, 1983 is $6.61 per 100 pounds live weight, which is unchanged from Friday.

The auction term is the most-travelled of hides. It integrates round trip from the Arctic to Antarctica, a total of 25,000 miles.

At their November 5 Beefmaster field day, Gary and Linda Jordan welcomed a crowd of nearly 100 people to Diamond Laxy J Beefmasters, Lexington, Texas. Here Charlie Bradbury, director of field services for Beefmaster Breeders Universal explains the BBU Upgrading Program to the field day participants. These heifers are first-crops (one-half Beefmaster) females and have been bred to Beefmaster bulls to produce second-crops (three-fourths Beefmaster) calves.

$50 Million Campaign Launched for 4-H

Chevy Chase, MD — A Five-year $50 million campaign to double private support for 4-H, the nation's largest out-of-school youth educational organization, was announced here today by James L. Dutt, chairman, chief executive officer, Bestrice Foods Co. and chairman, National 4-H Council Board of Trustees.

The campaign seeks support for 4-H in four major areas: enriching educational experiences for youth by expanding recognition programs, updating curriculum and educational materials and developing pilot programs, updating curriculum enhancing leadership development of adult and teen leaders and professional staff; increasing public awareness; and improving conference and training facilities at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase.

Robert B. Gill, vice chairman, J.C. Panney Company, will serve as chairman of the campaign committee that includes corporate and civic leaders nationwide. The first meeting of the committee will be held Dec. 1, during the 62nd National 4-H Congress at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, Ill. The National 4-H Congress, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, is the premiere recognition event for 4-H members nationwide.

The campaign is a cooperative effort between state 4-H programs and National 4-H Council, a not-for-profit organization. It will not only build upon traditional support from the corporate community but also will seek expanded support from foundations and individuals.

In accepting the role as campaign chairman, Dutt said, "I am proud to be a part of this expanded effort to involve the private sector in 4-H to a greater degree than before. We at J.C. Panney Company are well aware of the impact of 4-H on millions of young people who learn practical skills and develop positive attitudes toward themselves and the world around them."

On the livestock side, the really big farms accounted for 42 pct. of the receipts from dairies, 44 pct. of cattle receipts, 9 1/2 pct. of the receipts from hogs and pigs, and 80 pct. of the receipts from sheep, lambs and wool.

If you think practice makes perfect, the chances are that you never had a good one taking you to the top.

Big Farms Are More Numerous

The really big farms: Back in 1989 they were a rarity, accounting for only 1 in every 1,000 farms. But today, the really big farms - those with annual cash receipts of $500,000 or better - are a lot more numerous.

While the number of U.S. farms declined from 4.0 million in 1989 to 2.7 million today, the number of farms with annual cash receipts of $500,000 increased - from 4,000 way back then to more than 25,000 today.

And back in 1989 those really big farms accounted for 14 pct. of all cash receipts from farming, 16 pct. of the net farm income. This, though they accounted for only 1/10 of 1 pct. of all farms.

Last year, while they still accounted for only 1 pct. of all farms, they accounted for 80 pct. of the cash receipts, 80 pct. of net farm income.

A breakdown shows they accounted for 7 pct. of the receipts from grains, 81 pct. of the receipts from cotton, 8.3 pct. of the tobacco receipts, 18 pct. of the fieldcrops, hay, forage and silage receipts, 62 pct. of the vegetable and melon receipts, 68 pct. of the receipts from fruits, nuts and berries, 55 pct. of the nursery and greenhouse product receipts.

On the livestock side, the really big farms accounted for 42 pct. of the receipts from dairies, 44 pct. of cattle receipts, 9 1/2 pct. of the receipts from hogs and pigs, and 80 pct. of the receipts from sheep, lambs and wool.

If you think practice makes perfect, the chances are that you never had a good one taking you to the top.
